

Transcript: School Portrait

- Alright. Come on then. Come in. Sit down. No. Stop smiling! Well, we're gonna do something different today. Let's call it "reality check". You'll repeat after me. University tuition fee.
- University tuition fee.
- Okay, good.
- The banking crisis means: I'll never afford a home. Go on.
- The banking crisis means: I'll never afford...
- No. No. Just say "crisis".
- Crisis.
- You still got your tax return? Why not?
- I don't want to.
- Very good.
- Is it a koala or an elephant?
- A koala.
- Get rid of it.
- Climate change. Boom!
- Congestion charge.
- There's no pet heaven.
- Alright. Another thing, you don't get pocket money. You have to work hard every day...Oh...then just stop smiling, please. Alright, fine. I've got all day. Alright. Did you know that 60% of marriages end in divorce, yeah?

Transcript: School Portrait

Two people meet, get on really well and then they start growing apart till one of them leaves you, takes off his stuff, your house, maybe your kids...Oh, God...You are just not gonna stop smiling, aren't you? I can't, let's get over it. Alright, give me your best shot. Uh, I suppose I should get a new house...hey, is your mom single?